"THE DIARIES OF HOD CASE -- RESEARCHES INTO OLD TIME FIDDLE MUSIC"

LECTURE/DEMONSTRATION

presented by

JAMES KIMBALL
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT GENESEO

CO-SPONSORED WITH THE INSTITUTE FOR CANADIAN MUSIC

At the Department of Music, SUNY Geneseo, James Kimball teaches music history and ethnomusicology, including classes in North American folk music, European folk music, and world music. He directs the Geneseo String Band and, both with the ensemble and on his own, he frequently performs for various historical and agricultural societies.

James Kimball is presently researching the rural music of New York state for a forthcoming book. He completed his Master of Music degree at Wesleyan University in Connecticut.
